The systematic position of the pantropical genus Microlejeunea Stephani (1888: 61) has been debated. Grolle (1995) first defined the precise generic concept of Microlejeunea, which was also confirmed by molecular studies (Wilson et al. 2004; Dong et al. 2013). This concept has recently been followed by various authors (e.g., He & Zhu 2011; Lavocat & Schäfer-Verwimp 2011; Thouvenot et al. 2011; Marline et al. 2012; Thiers et al. 2012). Microlejeunea is well characterized and easily separated from Lejeunea Libert (1820: 372) by the presence of ocelli in the leaf lobe, transverse section of stem consisting of seven cortical cells and three medullary cells, and keel of female bract usually winged (Wei & Zhu 2013). Lejeunea indica Udar & Awasthi (1981: 345), known only from India (Udar & Awasthi 1981; Joshi 1995; Zhu & Long 2003; Dey et al. 2008), has all essential characters of Microlejeunea. Thus, a new combination is needed.

Formal treatment

The format of this note follows what is outlined in Söderström et al. (2012).

Microlejeunea indica* (Udar & U.S.Awasthi) Y.M.Wei & R.L.Zhu, comb. nov.

Basionym:—Lejeunea indica Udar & U.S.Awasthi, Cryptog., Bryol. Lichénol. 2: 345, 1981 (Udar & Awasthi 1981).

Type:—INDIA. Darjeeling: prope Mungpoo, 1280 m, 1 January 1978, S.C. Srivastava & U.S. Awasthi LWU 3388/78 (holotype LWU).
