Introduction

The genus Ozineus Bates, 1863 with 25 described species distributed from Mexico to South Brazil, and many to be described, is one of the largest of the Neotropical Acanthocinini. Tropidozineus Monné & Martins, 1976 was erected to accommodate those Ozineus species bearing lateral elytral carinae, with 16 species from Brazil and one from Bolivia. Here we made taxonomic treatments of these two genera from Bolivia, including description of six new species.
